A CRISIS AT HAND

Tories Fear Swamping of House of Lords

LONDON, July 2.—Politics have forged their way to the front again with surprising suddenness. After the truce which marked the coronation season the case of the government versus the peers seems about to reach a crisis stage. The radical newspapers assert that the cabinet has firmly decided to take drastic and final action if the lords persist in mutilating the veto bill.

Some of the radical writers claim cabinet authority for asserting that the government's plan is to announce through Premier Asquith in the house of commons or Lord Morley in the house of lords that the cabinet has decided to call on the king to create new peers unless the lords accept the veto bill and thus call a halt before the lords plunge deeper into opposition.

It is suggested that the first step will be to request the crown to create 150 peers, a number which would not overcome the conservative majority in the upper house, but would serve as a sort of object lesson. It is quite possible that the cabinet will give the lords time to send the bill to the house and then reject the amendments en bloc by one vote, declare its plans and perhaps give the house of commons an opportunity to vote on the question whether to ask the king to use his prerogative for the creation of liberal peers.

From conservative sources comes a different version of the cabinet's plan. It is said that the government will ask the king to dissolve parliament. The conservative whip, Arthur Steel-Maitland, also said, speaking before his constituents yesterday, that the government proposed to have another election, in which the home rule question would figure.

The Spectator, the organ of the most extreme conservatives, pleading with the lords to accept the bill, says that the conservative members of the house of commons privately admit that the liberals would gain an increased ma-majority if another election were held and that home rule therefore would be certain.

FAT MEN IN RACE

Annual Outing of the Columbus Associates

At their camp at Rilleria yesterday the Columbus associates of Boston held an outing, the principal feature of which was the swimming race between the three members of the club's Fat Men's Circle.

The race resulted in a tie and will be done over again later in the summer. Antonio Garbino, 250 pounds, and a resident of Revere, P. Cavagnaro, 324 pounds, of the North End, Boston, and J. L. Leverone, 270 pounds, of Roxbury, were the contestants.

Cavagnaro has proved many times that he is the fastest swimmer of the three, and also that he can beat many men half his weight. "Conqueror" everybody backed Cavagnaro yesterday. At the start he did get the lead and things looked good. After a few strokes, however, Garbino caught up with him and passed him. Then Leverone took a sudden spurt and caught up with Garbino. When the finish line was reached the three were neck and neck.

The organization's new launch, Christopher Columbus, followed the swimmers. A baseball game which was scheduled for yesterday was called off because of the heat. There were other games. Michael Leverone was judge of the swimming match.

IDEALS OF PATRIOTISM

Subject of Sermon by Rev. C. R. Skinner

At the Grace Universalist church, Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. C. R. Skinner preached universal peace. His subject was "New Ideals of Patriotism" and he found his inspiration in St. Paul. He said in part:

The United States is situated geographically so that it shall lead in this coming internationalism. In this new era of brotherhood, this new grip of one nation upon another. We have taken here some nations and welded them together in one perfect whole. No longer does one state go to war with another. Again, we stand for a new humanity. There is no other country on earth, to whose shores people of all nations have flocked as they have here. Again, we are in a situation that we alone can bring on this new internationalism by striking down all barriers, by spilling every gun that bristles on our shores and on our ships. We are situated 3000 miles from every European nation, 5000 miles from every Pacific nation. No enemy can possibly come unwarned to our shores. International law declares it as an absolute edict. We can lay down our arms here, being separated from the old European hotbed of rebellion. I feel that this is one of the great causes of the 20th century.

Teacher and other great preachers used to stand in the pulpits and plead for the breaking of the shackles from the slave. Today, the minister cries for the breaking of the shackles from the human mind. May God lead us people who have been cradled in the thought of liberty, into the larger thought of the dependence of humanity, the knitting together of men in the vast brotherhood of humanity.

TWO WERE INJURED

AUTO SKIDDED AND LANDED UPON SIDEWALK

BOSTON, July 3.—A man and a woman were severely injured in an automobile accident at the corner of Pearl and Cross streets, Somerville, at 3 yesterday afternoon.

The injured ones are Elmer C. Houdlet, aged 32, and Miss Eva Travers, aged 28, both living at 81 Cross street.

William Whoolsey of Providence is the owner and was operating the automobile. He was accompanied by his wife, two daughters and a woman friend. They were on their way to Lawrence. The car was moving slowly. The street had just been watered and the wheels of the car skidded. At Cross street near Pearl street the car ran upon the sidewalk. Houdlet and Miss Travers were walking on the sidewalk and the car struck them and knocked them down.

Houdlet was knocked into the street. When the car backed down off the sidewalk it passed over Houdlet's body crushing his chest. His clothing was torn from his body. Miss Travers sustained an injury to her left leg and also a severe shock. Her clothing was also badly.

Dr. Francis C. Shaw of Cross street attended both patients. They were then taken to their home. Mr. Whoolsey and his automobile party then proceeded on their way. The car was uninjured.

CHELMSFORD

The marriage of Mr. Carlton Elliot Atwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Atwood of High street, and Miss Clara Jeanette Connelley of Cambridge took place at the Central Congregational church Saturday afternoon.

The church was prettily decorated for the event, the platform and pulpit being hidden by a screen of birches, ferns and flowers.

and wild flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Ernest C. Bartlett of Mount Centre, a former pastor, assisted by Rev. Earl Alan Readman, pastor. The double ring service was used. As the guests were assembling, the organist, Harold R. Stewart, rendered very effectively "Gloria in Excelsis" and "The Wedding March." The bride, Miss Clara Jeanette Connelley, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Connelley, 25, a classmate of the bridegroom. The ushers were Mr. Frank E. Crawford of Cambridge, Harvard '11; Mr. Herbert Hale of Hudson, Mass., Technology '14; Mr. Roy Allen, Berkeley, Cal., University of California; Mr. Warren H. Hildes of Boston, Williams '06. After the ceremony, when the Mendelssohn wedding march was given, a reception was held by Mr. and Mrs. Atwood. Light refreshments were served in the ladies' parlor. Mr. and Mrs. Atwood left later on a wedding trip and after Sept. 1 will be at a general at their home, 111 Colver street, Cambridge, Mass.

AT GREEK SCHOOL

Graduating Exercises Held Yesterday

The annual graduating exercises of the Greek school were held yesterday morning and afternoon in the school and were largely attended. After attending mass in the church in the morning the children repaired to the school room in the afternoon when the exercises were held.

The morning exercises began after the celebration of mass, in the basement rooms. This was for children who go into the highest grade of the school next year. There were 13 of them.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock 12 boys and girls received their grammar school diplomas and will go to the high school next year. The exercises, morning and afternoon, included tests in Greek, English, church history, mathematics and American history. At the conclusion of the exercises "America" was sung by the pupils.

Mrs. Penelope Mazy and Mr. Gerassimos Pangas have taught the pupils in Greek branches, and Miss Florence E. Mason is the teacher of English.

LETTERS GAVE CLUE

Daughter Finds Father After Thirty Years

CALAIS, Me., July 3.—Thirty years ago the wife of Gillman Cook of Red Beach died, leaving several small children. One of these, a baby girl, Grace, was taken by a relative in Philadelphia. The relative disappeared shortly afterward and until a week ago Mr. Cook never knew what had become of his daughter, as he had been unable to find any trace of her.

Then there was a happy family reunion, as the daughter, now Mrs. Grace Sparks of Philadelphia, and the mother of two children, came to visit her father and her brother, William P. Cook, and other relatives at Red Beach.

It appears that Mrs. Sparks was brought up by the relative in ignorance of her real parents and given to understand that they were dead. Not long since she happened across some old letters written to the relatives by her father, which gave her a clue to his residence. Mrs. Sparks also located a half-sister, Mrs. John Edgerley, who came to Maine with her.

THE ANNUAL OUTING

Of the Passe-Temps Club Held Yesterday

The fourth annual outing of the Passe-Temps Club was held yesterday at their beautiful camp on the shores of Crystal lake. The guests had the best ever held and proved a real success in every way.

There were about 200 people present and the place proved to be an ideal one to keep away from the intense heat of the city. The guests gathered at the camp early in the morning and at noon partook of a dainty dinner consisting of chicken stew, turkey and other good delicacies, while the best of soft drinks were also served right on the spot.

The afternoon was devoted to an entertaining program including speeches, recitations and musical numbers, those taking part being J. J. Z. Robinson, George E. Polier, M. Duval and many others.

Among the guests were Dr. M. A. Tucker and Councilman Charles B. Rogers. The committee in charge was as follows: J. J. Z. Robinson, chairman; George E. Polier, George Gauthier, Alphonse Noel and Philias Rechette.

CHILD INJURED

WHEN CARS ON THE LAWRENCE DIVISION COLLIDED

John Kelman, aged four years, son of John Kelman of 123 Third street, was painfully injured about the nose late yesterday afternoon when two electric cars on the Lawrence division of the Boston & Newburyport collided.

The cars were running double track to accommodate the increased traffic and the first car stopped so suddenly that before the motorman of the second car could bring his car to a stop it struck the first car with sufficient impact to throw Mr. Kelman, who was seated in the rear part of the second car with the child on his knee, against the next seat. The child's nose struck the top of the seat and at first it was thought to be broken, but examination later by Dr. Pillsbury showed a bad bruise but no broken bones.

LOSS IS $4000

TENEMENT HOUSE WAS DESTROYED BY FIRE

NORTHAMPTON, July 3.—A tenement house at 311 Tom was destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock this morning with a loss on the building of about $3000, and on the furniture of $100. The building was owned by Frank Levickowski and occupied by four families, who had barely time to escape in their night clothes. One man carried out a mattress. Asked why he was so anxious to save it he explained that his money was sewed up in it. A woman threw a pocket book with a large sum of money in it from it after the fire broke out. A puddle of water formed by water firemen had thrown on the building.

ARREST ORGANIZER

MEMBERS OF ORDER OF OWLS CHARGED WITH CHEATING

DENVER, Me., July 3.—John A. Merrill of Newport, an organizer of the order of Owls, was brought here late Saturday night from Weeks Mills, where he was arrested Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Arthur R. Levenseller of this town, charged with cheating by false pretenses. He will be given a hearing before Judge Arthur W. Stone of the municipal court.

Merrill was here several weeks ago soliciting members for the new order of Owls. It is alleged he secured some 30 applications and collected $5 per member, after which he left town without organizing the lodge or furnishing the necessary lodge equipment.

About a dozen warrants were sworn out here and he was finally located at Weeks Mills in Kennebec county. It is understood here that he is wanted on similar charges in Belfast, Oldtown and Madison.

STOPS ITCHING AT ONCE

A chemist discovered that an extract from a particular tree possesses such soothing and curative properties that when applied to eczema and similar diseases it stopped the itching at once.

Sufferers who use it are amazed at the quickness of the relief which follows its use. It heals the skin and removes all traces of the disease. The name of this new remedy is Cadum. It is sold by all druggists at 10c and 25c a box. Cadum is equally good for sores, cuts, chafes, eczema, hemorrhoids, itching piles, etc. People who have been afflicted for years with skin troubles, and who have tried everything without being relieved, should take fresh courage because this new remedy is different from anything else.

JUMPED OUT WINDOW STRUCK BY A CAR THROWN FROM AUTO

Woman Was Trying to Evade Husband

BROCKTON, July 3.—In an attempt to evade her husband during a quarrel at their home, 111 Bellevue avenue, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Elmi Bezuska hurled herself through a window on the second floor, falling to the roof of a piazza. As she went through the window her right arm was badly cut, a physician later taking nine stitches in the wound.

The first report to the police was that there had been serious trouble in the house. Lieut. Chase dispatched Inspectors Morey, Lays and Saunders to the house in a police automobile. The machine became stalled half way to the house and the three inspectors ran through the second along the railroad tracks for nearly a mile, all three suffering considerably from the heat and exertion.

Mrs. Bezuska climbed in another window from the piazza roof and faintly. She was weakened by the loss of blood, but is not in a dangerous condition.

Five Killed in Accident on a Crossing

NEW YORK, July 3.—Five persons were killed and two injured in a grade crossing accident near Ozone Park late yesterday. The victims were in a horse-drawn vehicle when it was struck by a Long Island train.

The crossing where the accident occurred is at the bottom of a slight declivity and flanked by obstructions which prevent a clear view in either direction. In the wagon was a party of five residents of this city, who were out picnicking, and a driver. Of the four women and two men in the vehicle, only one—a woman—is alive and she is so badly injured that it is feared she will die. The other injured person is Richard Creed, conductor of the electric train which struck the vehicle just as it had reached a point squarely across the rail.

The bodies of two of the victims were ground under the train. Two other bodies were hurled through the open front door of the first car and struck Creed as he stood in the aisle. The impact knocked him against the car seats with terrific force and one of his arms was so badly crushed that it had to be amputated. The body of the fifth victim was thrown some distance. The motorman was uninjured.

George A. Geer Was Fatally Injured

GRAFTON, July 3.—George A. Geer of Worcester was so seriously injured when he was thrown out of an automobile which skidded on a car track on the Fisherville road yesterday morning that he died late yesterday at a Worcester hospital.

Mr. Geer and his wife were riding on the rear seat of a machine owned and driven by Charles Case, also of Worcester. Both Mr. and Mrs. Geer were thrown out and landed on their faces, but Mrs. Geer escaped with slight injuries.

Mrs. Grace L. Geknap of Worcester was also a passenger in the machine, but was not thrown out. Mr. Geer was 64 years of age and employed in the hat department of a Worcester department store.

FRENCH ORPHANAGE SCENE OF FETE CHAMPETRE.

The Best Method to Fight the Loan Sharks

The "fete champetre" at the French orphanage in Pawtucket street was opened yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock with benediction of the blessed sacrament, the ceremony being held in the chapel of the orphanage. There was a large attendance and Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., officiated.

The entire affair thus far has been a real success and it is considered that over 7000 people visited the grounds in the course of the day. The grounds were beautifully decorated with flags and long streamers of hunting and in the evening several hundred incandescent lights added to the beauty of the fete. The main feature of the event, however, was the lecture on the "Caluses Populaires," delivered by Hon. Alphonse Desjardins of Levis, Que., who is lecturing in this state under the auspices of the commonwealth.

Mr. Desjardins gave his lecture at 1 o'clock and the large attendance was deeply interested with the way he explained the advantages of a "Caluse Populaire." The speaker was presented to the audience by Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., and he spoke in part as follows:

"It is believed that there is a field for such associations in Massachusetts and that they will supplement the existing agencies for promoting thrift, namely, the savings banks and the cooperative banks. The credit union law is drawn in such a way as to permit the organization of credit unions on lines which will fit the particular fields in which they are to operate. While in outline a credit union is not unlike a cooperative bank, many of the regulations of the credit union are determined by law, in the credit union are left to be decided by the members. For example, the ultimate value of a share in a cooperative bank is fixed by law at $200, which must be paid for in monthly installments of $1 each; and the shares are sold only by the purchase of shares in the cooperative bank. In credit unions the shares represent the members' generally fix the ultimate value of a share at about $5, and allow it to be paid for either at once or in such installments as the member desires. While, as in cooperative banks, the shares are sold only by the purchase of shares in the cooperative bank, in credit unions the shares represent the members' generally fix the ultimate value of a share at about $5, and allow it to be paid for either at once or in such installments as the member desires. While, as in cooperative banks, the shares are sold only by the purchase of shares in the cooperative bank, in credit unions the shares represent the members' generally fix the ultimate value of a share at about $5, and allow it to be paid for either at once or in such installments as the member desires."

Credit unions have been in existence in Europe for the last 60 years, having long passed the experimental stage. There are 56,000 of these institutions in all, and of these, Germany, the pioneer in that part of the world, has the most. The total amount of capital represented by these amounts to the enormous sum of $2,000,000,000. Germany alone has 29,000 of these unions, and other countries having a large number are Russia, Austria, Hungary, France, Belgium, Italy, Denmark and the little country of Finland comes along with 500 credit unions. Surely these figures must speak volumes for the benefits derived from these institutions.

In Canada, the credit unions were established 11 years ago by Mr. Desjardins at Levis. The first sum deposited was 10 cents, and the amount involved at the present time runs up into the thousands. This pioneer in popular banking studied the matter for 19 years before taking steps towards its organization, and even after the credit union at Levis had been firmly established it was eight years before he would undertake to start another.

At the present time there are 56 of these institutions in Canada, 55 of them having been organized in the last three years, and the number of depositors is 25,000, with a capital of $500,000. In Levis only, the capital amounts to $300,000 since 11 years ago $400 loans have been made, involving the amount of $667,000, and not one of them failed to be paid back!

In the short time that Mr. Desjardins has been here, six credit unions have already been established; one at the Shepard-Norvell Co. in Boston, one in New Bedford, one in Worcester, one in Fitchburg, and one in Holyoke. The credit unions are, Mr. Desjardins claims, the best method of fighting the loan sharks, and in the recent report of the committee which is investigating the loan frauds in Boston, the commissioners point out these credit unions as one of the means most likely to be successful in the fight against the loan officers. In other words, the commissioners give this form of banking the strongest recommendation possible. Another point of importance is the fact that each credit union is entirely independent, is not subordinate to a home office, so that whatever misfortune befalls one institution, the matter does not affect its sister in another town. Also, the rate of interest afforded the depositors has never been known to be less than 4 per cent. and is usually higher.

At the close of Mr. Desjardins' remarks, Mr. Frank Ricard who entertained him during his stay here, got nearly 200 signatures, the list being headed by the Rev. Fr. Watelle, so that the success of the plan seems to be pretty well assured.

At 8 o'clock tonight, Mr. Desjardins will speak at the "fete champetre" of Notre Dame de Lourdes parish at Washington park.

The rest of the program at the orphanage was rendered as announced in Saturday's edition of The Sun, and each number scored a great success, while the different young ladies in charge of the various tables reported an immense business. The festivities were continued today and will be resumed tomorrow.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Yes, the license has been granted for the theatre at the lake, and the performance will continue for the balance of the summer. This company, which has already demonstrated that they are a capable lot of players will this week offer that well known western type play made famous by Ellnor Hobson, "Salomy Jane." This is the first time that it has ever been presented at popular prices and the theatre will not be large enough to hold the patrons this week. Miss Marie Horton will be seen in the part created by Ellnor Hobson, Salomy Jane, and she is sure to make a decided hit in it as the part is well suited to her. The leading man's part is called "The Man." His name is never disclosed during the action of the play. The production has been made entirely new for this play, and all details will be carefully given. The comedy part of "Col. Starbottle" is in the hands of Arthur McCullum, and the "Gambler," which will be played by William A. Williams, while the noted stage-coach driver who has been "shot up" is by J. J. Owens. The balance of the cast will all have good parts, and "Salomy Jane" ought to prove a winner. Matinee every day excepting Mondays—Adv.

STOCK MARKET

PRICES MOVED VERY SLOWLY TODAY

Market Closed Steady—Final Figures

Showed Losses for the Final Market Leaders

NEW YORK, July 2.—Prices fell off abruptly in the opening session of the stock market today. The decline was affected by the adverse action of the Interstate Commerce commission in the coal rate case, declined 1 1/2 cents of 14, were sustained by Great Northern Electric, U. S. Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Great Northern. Minneapolis, St. Paul & North Western and Amalgamated Copper dropped a point each and almost all the other active shares lost large fractions. Canadian Pacific exhibited further weakness and then rallied a point. The rest of the list was sluggish and made but little recovery. Crop news seemed to be about the only influence affecting the market, the blistering heat and the grain regions raising fresh misgivings. The market was generally weak during the forenoon. The decline in London gave a heavy tone to the opening. The market seemed to be unable to throw off the intense heat and the approach of a holiday kept away investors and trading was dull after the first few minutes. Reports of further damage to crops from the heat and the decision against the Lehigh Valley in the coal case exercised a depressing effect. Declines were extended late in the forenoon. Losses ran between 1 and 2 points for most of the representative stocks. The government report on cotton failed to influence stocks, although the condition of the crop was declared to be better than a week ago. Upon the completion of the London settling, which amounted to $200 million, a slight fraction but the demand was largely from the short interest. Dulness was the characteristic of the afternoon session. Traders were not inclined to take on stocks over the holiday and the shorts preferred to stand their ground in view of the bad crop reports. The market closed steady. Prices scarcely moved as the session drew to a close. Final figures showed losses for the usual market leaders of 1 to 1 1/2.

RECIAT A SUCCESS

Fine Program at Conservatory of Music

One of the prettiest musical recitals of the season was held Friday evening by the pupils of the Lowell Conservatory of Music at Appleton street. A diploma was awarded to Miss Marion Blodgett. There was a very large attendance and the program was most successfully rendered and proved a real treat. The feature of the evening, however, was the address to the graduates by Mr. George A. Willey, A. M., M. D., organist and director of the conservatory. His address was as follows: "The lights by great men are all kindled."

Were not achieved by sudden flight. But they, while their companions sleep, were telling upward in the night. Like a little child who comes down.

George A. Willey.

stales for the first time and looks out upon the wide, wide world for the first time, you have now arrived at the end of your first course of artistic study. You have fought a good fight with that arch-enemy "Daily Practice," you have kept the faith with your teachers; you have faith the work that was given to you to do, and are therefore entitled to this diploma as evidence of things not seen by the casual observer.

The most wonderful thing in the world today is the airplane. They call it the air as sailors call the sea, they go where they please, stay as long as they choose, and one enterprising navigator has arranged to run on schedule time like a railroad. But this wonderful result was not achieved by accident. Your generations have experimented and failed. Your fathers, grandfathers, great-grandfathers, have tried. The work and the pluck, be they surer, we say.

Every boy has a touch of the fever in his youth.

I flew myself one day from the ridgepole of a small building in the rear of the house, and I landed in the piggery. My father, who was in the kitchen, carried me gently into the wash tub for analysis and synthesis by my loving mother. Between the two processes there was a short interval punctuated by sounds like percussion caps accidentally exploded. "Willie! Darius! I never saw again."

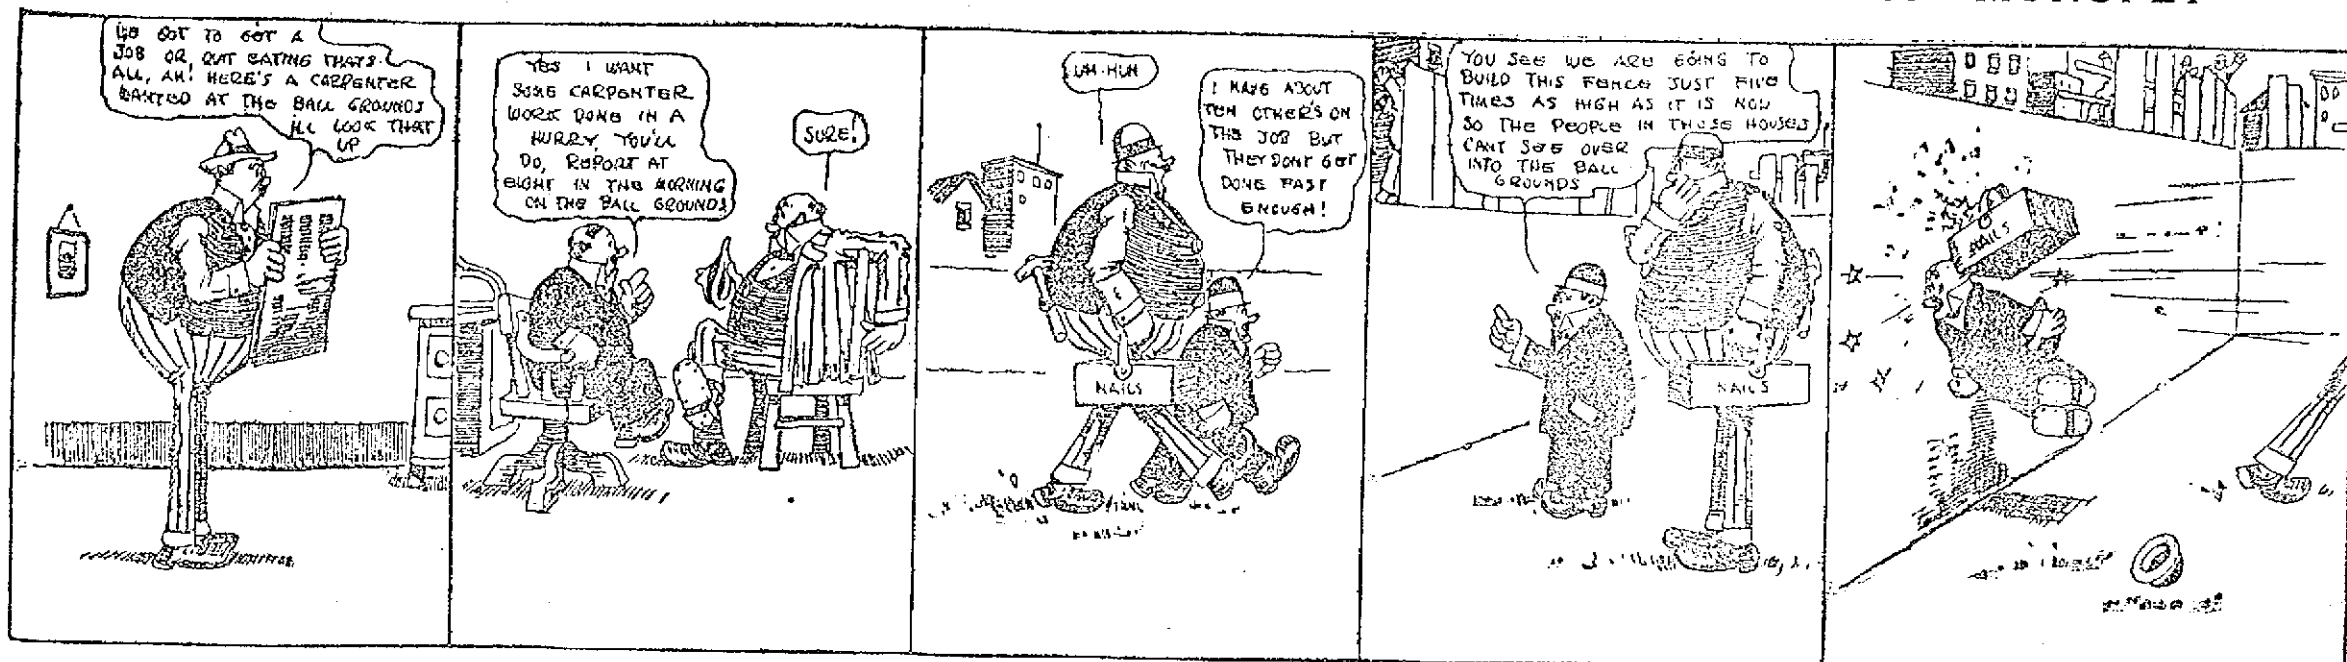

Darius never succeeded, but he encouraged those who came after him, and

BENJAMIN GETS A JOB THAT THREATENS TO CUT OUT HIS "ROOF MONOPLY"

BARROWS STILL LEADS

While Wolfgang Tops the N. E. Pitchers' List

Capt. Barrows of Lowell improved his batting average six points last week and continues to lead the New England league with 11 points advantage over Joe Briggs, who will be out of the game some time, by reason of an injury last week. Briggs gained five points over his mark of a week ago and passed Pratt of New Bedford for second place. Russell of Worcester gained and passed Burdett, but the latter remains fifth place as Luyser of Lawrence fell down. Henriksen of Brockton made a good gain and is now seventh.

There are 22 men over the .300 mark, the same as a week ago. Of the 27 leaders Lowell has five, Haverhill, Lawrence and Brockton four each, Worcester three, Fall River and Lynn two each and New Bedford one.

Moulton of Lowell continues to lead in runs scored and is gradually drawing away from Magee of the same team. The latter is now tied by Henriksen, each at 30, while Moulton has 59.

Lonerken of Brockton made a good gain in stolen bases, jumping from third to a triple tie with Carlstrom of Lawrence and Noblett of Worcester, the leaders a week ago. Each has 27.

Hans takes the lead in sacrifice hits with 18, Barrows being tied with O'Neill of Worcester for second place, each with 16.

Henriksen leads in total hits, night with 83 in 57 games, but Briggs, with 81 in 54 games, really has the honor.

The leading pitchers except Wolfgang of Lowell, had their troubles, not one of the 10 leaders with this exception getting better than an even break. Wolfgang now leads Ward of Brockton with Harrington of Lynn still in third place.

The averages of the 25 leading batters and 11 leading pitchers, including Saturday's games, are as follows:

VICTORY FOR ZIONS

Strong Andover Team Was Defeated

The Zions went to Andover, Saturday, July 1st, and beat the Andover team so badly that they will not forget it for some time to come. Fred Chapman bowled excellently for the Zions while Joe Hall of the Zions took two for nine runs. The batting of William Atkinson was a star feature of the game, who made 26 runs. The holding, to speak individually, couldn't have been better. The following is a summary of the game:

AVIATOR ATWOOD'S MARVELOUS STUNTS

With Atwood soaring on high over the Thames while the great race was being run, we venture to say that he attracted more attention than did the contending crews. The thrilling feats of this daring aviator have far outvalued anything yet attempted by any of the bird men. His stunts in New York city when he skimmed the skyscrapers and circled the Singer tower, flying over Manhattan Island where the city spreads out its wide area of roofs, chimneys and tall buildings, were the most daring yet attempted. Contrary to the practice of aviators to fly high over dangerous ground Atwood flew low, showing a confidence and command never before approached by any aviator. At his other stunt of stopping his engine in mid-air for readjustment even the other aviators stood aghast. But Atwood has attempted so much that nothing he does hereafter will exceed the popular anticipation for he is now regarded as the leader and the marvel of all the best aviators in the world.

THE MATTER OF STARTING RIGHT

Just at present a lot of young men are out of school honored with graduating laurels that will very soon fade and wither under the exposure to the outer air. The boys will find that their honors at school will avail but little if not backed up by substantial worth and courage. They look around for something to do. They long to make a start, but better remain at rest than start in the wrong direction. At New Bedford recently a man built his home on another man's lot thinking he was having it built upon his own. That man found that mistakes are quite expensive, especially when they are fundamental. When a young man starts out in the wrong direction things may go very well till he finds that he is on the wrong road, and then he will have to turn back and begin all over again. That good old adage, "Be sure you are right and then go ahead," does not receive the attention it importance demands. If men had the gumption and the courage to carry it out the world would be much better than it is. It is an excellent motto for young men to adopt and apply in starting out to shape their fortune.

REDUCE THE CASUALTIES ON THE FOURTH

It is to be hoped that the celebration of Independence Day in this city will be generally enjoyed, and that the aftermath will not require the services of undertakers, nor leave a number of wounded in the hospitals or the homes. The arrival of the Fourth is not a signal for the entire people, nor any part of them to act insanely on the assumption that everybody must do something silly merely because it is the Fourth of July. The more dangerous methods of observing the day have been prohibited by the police, and the regulations, we understand, will be strictly enforced. The use of explosives and fireworks of any kind up to a certain hour of the morning of the Fourth is strictly prohibited, and then after that hour the use of dangerous explosives is also prohibited. Unless the people are extremely cautious, however, there will be accidents that will call for surgical aid, and perhaps leave their scars for life. On the last Fourth of July the celebration in Lowell was free from any fatalities and from any very serious accident. It is to be hoped that the observance this year will be an improvement upon that of last, and that the number of casualties attending the celebration will be the smallest on record.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Anybody who visits Lowell at the present time would realize that we have been making some progress in the direction of the city beautiful. Our public parks especially are indicative of this fact. Our streets are in fairly good condition with the exception of a few that will probably receive the attention of the street department during the present year.

There are still, however, some eyesores remaining along our business streets in the form of old buildings that have long ago outlived their usefulness. This year, however, there are many new buildings being erected, and the building boom now starting may result in the erection of fine structures where now stand some of the antiquated wooden shacks. We are growing bigger and better as a city, and with a new charter that will put aside provincialism Lowell will forge ahead in the vanguard of progress.

A Connecticut town claiming the attribute of "spotless" has adopted the following commandments to be observed by the people, and we present them here as equally applicable to Lowell:

- 1.—Don't throw anything on the sidewalk or street. Find a rubbish can.
- 2.—Don't tear up paper and scatter it anywhere.
- 3.—Don't let any pile of ashes or rubbish stay in your backyard.
- 4.—Don't mix ashes and garbage in the same can. Pigs don't like to eat old coal or clinkers.
- 5.—Don't fill the ash bin or garbage can too full.
- 6.—Don't chalk the sidewalks, fences, buildings or pavements.
- 7.—Don't deface park benches, school furniture or any public property.
- 8.—Don't forget that horses love banana skins. A banana skin isn't dangerous if it is inside a horse's stomach.
- 9.—Don't do anything that will bring disgrace to the city where you live.
- 10.—Don't expect your city to become clean and perfect all at once. It will become an ideal city only when everybody does something every day to help make things better.

These municipal commandments are not observed by the boys who throw stones through school windows, who in the same way smash street lamps and street signs. There is hardly a street sign anywhere in Lowell and nowhere in the vicinity of a school that is not battered with stones thrown by boys.

This by some is regarded as good fun, but these signs are useful to guide strangers, and when defaced they must be renewed at considerable expense to the city. It is just as bad to wilfully destroy valuable property as it is to steal property of the same value. Yet the boy who steals is arrested, but the boy who destroys thinks that he is not so guilty.

Sweat, brothers, sweat with care. Sweat every day that you see in air. Sweat them early and sweat them late. Sweat them hard and sweat with hate. Sweat them up and sweat them down. And sweat them everywhere in town. Sweat them hard, break up or bow. But drive the darn things out of Lowell.

THE IVY GREEN

O, a dainty plant is the ivy green. That creepeth o'er ruins old. Or right choice food are his meals, I deem.

In his cell so lone and cold. The walls must be crumbled, the stone. To pleasure his dainty whim! And the mouldering dust that years have made.

Is a merry meal for him. Creeping where no life is seen. A rare old plant is the ivy green.

And a staunch old heart has he. How closely he twineeth, how tight he clings. To his friend, the huge oak tree! And slowly he traileth along the ground, And his leaves he gently waves.

As he joyously twines and hugs around. The rich mould of dead men's graves. Creeping where grim death has been. A rare old plant is the ivy green.

Whole areas have fled and their works decayed. And nations have scattered been. But the stout old ivy shall never fade. From its hale and hearty green. Shall fatten upon the past. For the stateliest building man can raise.

Is the ivy's food at last. Creeping on where time has been. A rare old plant is the ivy green. —Charles Dickens.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Raymond L. Bridgman, a state house correspondent and a current events lecturer for several seasons before the Women's club, New Bedford has been unanimously re-elected president of the Massachusetts State House Press association. Mr. Bridgman is the dean of the thirty or more state house reporters who form the association, and when it was organized a few years ago there was no question as to who should be its chief officer. Mr. Bridgman has since been retained in the office, as the mark of the high esteem in which he is held by his fellow workers.

A grateful Chinese patient has given $500 to the University Medical School in Canton, China. The donor of the gift, a Mr. Lo, came to the University hospital in Canton a nervous breakdown. He was cured and shortly after leaving the hospital returned with a bag of gold which proved to be worth $500.

Dr. John Grier Hibber, professor of philosophy in the Princeton faculty, mentioned as a possible successor to Woodrow Wilson in the presidency of the university, was born in Peoria, Ill., in 1861, and has been at Princeton since 1881. He was graduated from Princeton in 1882, took his A. M. three years later, and his Ph. D. in 1893. In the meantime he has studied at the Princeton Theological seminary and at the University of Berlin from 1893 to 1895. He was ordained into the Presbyterian church in 1895, and in the same year he accepted a call to a church at Chambersburg, Pa., a post which he held until he went to Princeton as instructor of logic and psychology. He is the author of "Inductive Logic," "The Problems of Philosophy," "Hegel's Logic," "Deductive Logic," and "The Philosophy of the Enlightenment" and is editor of the twelve-volume edition of "Epochs of Philosophy."

Congratulations were showered upon Rev. Augustus Abbar, M. A., vicar of Willington, Bedfordshire, England, and rural dean, when on June 14 he celebrated his 57th birthday. In many respects he is one of the most interesting personalities in the county of Bedford. In a few weeks he will have finished 55 years of his vicarage of Willington, a busy little village on the bank of the Ouse a few miles below Bedford. He was previously rector of Fardish, six years, making in all 55 years' ministry in his native county. Mr. Abbar is the original of one of the characters (Tom Brown) in the great fight graphically described in "Tom Brown's Schooldays," and he remembers the encounter very well. He is not chuffed that he represents Tom Brown in any other respect, but he was the Rugby boy who at cover point caught out the redoubtable batsman in the Marlborough cricket match described in the same story. Hughes, afterwards the judge, was captain of the eleven when he put Orlebar out. Orlebar and Orlebar himself was captain when Dr. Arnold died in 1832. The vicar of Willington, who is in excellent health, takes duty and preaches at his church every Sunday, and has the practical oversight of the parish. As rural dean, Mr. Orlebar also discharges the duties of the deanery, which embraces nine parishes. Throughout his long life Mr. Orlebar has had good health. He has been a non-smoker, but not a teetotaler.

A LARGE GAIN

IN THE LIVE STOCK AND GRAIN TRAFFIC

A large gain in the live stock and grain traffic during the month of May is shown by the figures of the leading commercial movements just published by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. Larger receipts of hogs and sheep on the one hand, and corn, wheat and rye, on the other, are mainly responsible for the heavier monthly inbound movement to the chief packing and grain centers of the country.

Live stock receipts during May at seven primary western markets aggregated 3,550,875 head, compared with 2,697,278 received in May, 1910, and 2,896,767 head received in May, 1909. Of the total, 822,750 head were cattle; 95,561, calves; 1,979,556, hogs; 821,672 sheep, and 35,006, horses and mules.

With the exception of calves, the inbound movement of food animals shows considerable gains over the corresponding figures for the two preceding years. The monthly receipts of hogs show a gain of 12 per cent over the monthly average for the five preceding years, exceeding the May receipts of each year for the period 1906 to 1910. Even a larger gain is shown by the May receipts of sheep, which were more than a third larger than the May average for the preceding five-year period. The marketing of live stock at seven primary markets required the use during the month of 62,224 cars, as compared with 47,413 cars during May, 1910, and 51,927 cars during the five months of the present year. 16,875,132 head, were likewise on a larger scale than for the two preceding years, though the receipts of hogs, 1,979,556 head, fell short of the corresponding figures in 1909 and 1908. The inbound live stock traffic for the five months' period of the present year aggregated 298,168 cars, compared with 247,711 and 277,831 cars reported for the corresponding periods in 1910 and 1909.

Receipts of food animals for the month at four principal Atlantic seacoast cities totaled 718,282 head, compared with 690,523 head reported for May, 1910, and 687,056 head for May, 1909. Just as in the case of the seven primary markets, a considerable gain in the monthly receipts of hogs and sheep is shown. The five months' receipts at these cities aggregated 3,511,874 head, of which 130,724 head were cattle, 264,777 head, calves; 1,608,211 head, hogs, and 1,210,659 head, sheep; the latter two items being considerably in excess of the corresponding 1910 figures.

Chicago shipments of packing house products during the month aggregated 18,573,815 pounds, compared with 161,220,275 pounds for May, 1910, and 176,875,014 pounds for May, 1909. The principal gains over the earlier years' figures appear under the head of fresh beef, lamb and canned meats. The shipments of packing house products for the five months of the present year, 854,943,550 pounds, were also heavier than for the preceding two years, the larger shipments of lamb and canned meats being chiefly responsible for the greater total. The five months' shipments of canned meats aggregated 56,822,500 pounds, and were larger than the corresponding shipments for the preceding four years, though still about 13 per cent short of like shipments in 1908. The stocks of meat at the end of the month at five leading packing house centers totaled 222,472,832 pounds, the highest end-month figure since April, 1909.

The grain receipts at 15 leading western markets during the month, 69,372,612 bushels, were likewise heavier than in May, 1910 and 1909, when 48,406,170 and 40,366,151 bushels were reported. Larger receipts of corn, wheat and oats are a characteristic feature of this month's traffic, the gain in the corn receipts being especially heavy. The season receipts of grain since September were composed of 172,350,293 bushels of wheat; 193,091,250 bushels of corn; 147,851,946 bushels of oats; 61,827,641 bushels of barley; and 5,717,758 bushels of rye, or in all, 556,322,113 bushels, a total about 6 per cent less than in 1910, the smaller receipts of wheat and barley greatly outweighing the larger receipts of corn. May shipments of flour from 13 milling centers are given as 3,000,468 barrels, a quantity slightly less than in May, 1910. A similar decline in flour shipments is shown for the five month period of the present year, the largest milling centers, such as Minneapolis, Chicago, Peoria, and St. Louis showing smaller shipments than a year ago.

The combined receipts of flour and grain for the month at four leading Atlantic seaports were 18,828,691 bushels, showing a considerable gain over the corresponding 1910 and 1909 receipts of 13,253,733 and 10,896,322 bushels. The wheat receipts show quite an increase over the very light figures of the earlier months. The export demand for grains during the month was exceedingly right, the foreign shipments of corn by far exceeding those of wheat. The exports during the month of flour, food animals, and hog products show large gains over the corresponding 1910 figures.

The worst of it is it doesn't do any good. There is something, however, that will do a great deal of good—a simple preparation known as Tellone that can be bought at any drug store. This will stop the itching and cure the rash very quickly. It is a remedy well known throughout New England for alleviating irritation and for all sorts of skin diseases, as well as for colds, coughs and throat troubles when taken internally.

TWELVE PERISHED

Many Drowning Accidents in New England Waters

BOSTON, July 3.—Twelve persons lost their lives in New England by drowning yesterday and more than a score of men and women had narrow escapes. Several men and women, in frail canoes and in sailboats which they did not know how to manage, were tossed into the water, but with their hands pulled them out and carried them safely ashore.

The beaches, lakes and rivers were thronged with crowds from the cities and surrounding towns from early morning till late at night. At Riverside six canoes capsized and the occupants of two were rescued by the Metropolitan Park police officers, while those in the other four swam ashore.

Of the 12 drownings, ten were in Massachusetts and two were in New Hampshire. Of double drownings in Massachusetts, two were in the Merrimack river, two in the Connecticut river and two at Swansea.

At Beverly Beach thousands saw Charles W. Lovett of Lynn drown before aid could reach him. Lovett was an expert swimmer and early in the day went to the beach to get relief from the heat. He was one of the first in the water and swam about in the vicinity of the rafts for some time.

Faint Cry for Help
Later, as the crowd swarmed on the raft, making it nearly impossible to dive, Lovett attempted a long swim. He was out several hundred yards when those nearest him heard a faint cry for help. The cry was passed along to the life guards, but by the time they reached him he had gone under for the last time.

President Taft had hardly left Beverly when the police ambulance was hurried through the streets in the vicinity of the nation's summer capital to render aid to Catalano Batzaski, 39, of 59 Cabot street, who was taken suddenly ill while bathing at the Ocean Side park.

Batzaski, with several friends, was fooling in the water when he suddenly fell over. He had not been in the best of health recently and is believed to have been weakened while exercising in the water.

James Sullivan, who was near by, dove for Batzaski as he went down for the second time and caught him by the legs. He swam with him to shore and the police were notified. The man died on his way to the hospital. More than 1500 persons saw the accident and many volunteered to save Batzaski but to Sullivan belongs the credit of bringing him to the surface.

At Pembroke, in Little Sandy Pond, Louis Potequin, 15, of 418 Court street, Brockton, lost his life because of his inability to swim. Potequin, with two other boys of his own age, Percy Lyons and Leon Nash, was spending the day at Mayflower Grove and had been in the water but a short time when he was seen to go under. P. G. Johnson of Brockton dove for the body and recovered it.

Sees Husband Perish
While his wife stood on the beach unable to aid him, James Gibley of Lawrence was caught by the undertaker at Newburyport and drowned. Gibley went to Newburyport especially to take a dip in the ocean. His wife went with him and while her husband was in the water she joked with him from the beach. A huge wave overcame Gibley, he went under, and a second time his body had been caught in the undertow before he could get a footing or crawl to the shore.

James Morin of Boston was bathing near Gibley and was caught by the undertow. He was rescued by the undertaker who was standing in the surf, near the shore, beside him.

Scores of persons, believing William Smith, 40, of Ware, was performing a water feat in Forest lake, Palmer, allowed the boy to drown before their eyes. When they realized he was not doing stunts it was too late and he was washed ashore, lifeless.

Smith dove under and did not come up. Several other boys had been doing acrobatic tricks and quite a crowd had collected. The bathers were deceived by Smith's adeptness and did not take his position seriously.

Under a Minute and More
At Oxford, N. H., Eugene F. Willis, 60, dove into the water and stayed under 45 seconds. The next time he dove he declared he would make it a full minute. When that time had elapsed, bathers swam to where he had dived, but could find no trace of him.

An alarm was sent out and motor and row boats were brought to the scene. Several expert divers dove for Willis' body, but could not locate it. For several hours volunteers dragged and dove for the body, and finally relatives came to the rescue. Willis was a carpenter and leaves a widow and three children.

William Dunlap, 25, of 150 South Barnham street, Lawrence, went in bathing in the Merrimack river just after he had eaten a hearty meal and was overcast while trying to swim across the river, a distance of about 300 feet, drowning before his companions could reach him.

Dunlap was attending an outing of the Iron Molders union at Glen Forest and had been in the water previous to the noon meal. After dinner someone suggested a swim across the river. Dunlap was a strong man, and considered a good swimmer. Another man followed him in the water and half way across the river Dunlap struck up a sprint, and a few seconds later collapsed. The body was recovered.

Friends Were Too Late
Four men attempted to rescue Joseph Potyniak, 27, when it was seen he was unable to swim farther in the Merrimack river, early in the afternoon. The young man was clinging to the stern of a row boat when he attempted to swim ashore. He collapsed, and as he went down four of his friends raced to his side. They were too late, however, the river had claimed the body.

About the time Potyniak met his death, Napoleon Cameron was taken from the Squag river, but a stone's throw away, in an unconscious condition. Cameron swam beyond his depth, but willing hands pulled him to the surface. For a few minutes following the entire lake was the scene of much confusion. Someone telephoned to the police and an ambulance was sent hurrying to the scene. Cameron was taken to a hospital and it is believed he will recover.

Warren De Witt Clinton and Sackwell H. Clinton, cousins, both 23, were thrown into the water when their sail boat capsized on Swansea reservoir yesterday afternoon and were drowned. The young men were experienced swimmers, but were caught in a squall while trying to tack their little craft. The water at the place where the accident occurred was so deep and the men such poor swimmers, neither was able to swim to the shore.

Fifty feet from shore and with a friend swimming only a few feet in front of him, Alfred Lafreniere, 19, of 32 Grace street, Springfield, was drowned in the Connecticut river, when his companion, who is deaf, failed to hear his cries for help. Lafreniere, who was without father or mother, went swimming in the river this afternoon with Robert Rae of 466 North Main street. The two started to cross the river and when almost to the west bank Rae splinted and passed Lafreniere.

Friend Nowhere in Sight
In his efforts to keep up with Rae, Lafreniere probably was seized with cramps. He cried loudly for help, but his friend, not hearing, did not turn until he had reached shore. Then he looked upon the surface of the water, with his friend nowhere in sight. The body was not recovered at a late hour last night.

In Bull Head Pond, Williamselt, Naida Beaulieu, 24, was drowned. With his brother, Naida, was fooling in the pond. Neither could swim. Both secured rafts and on these they were paddling around. The two men neared each other and Naida jumped upon his brother's raft. It overturned, throwing both in the water. Naida was seized with cramps and drowned in 15 feet of water. His brother was rescued when he came up the second time in Gaston Williamson who dived successfully for him and resuscitated him after more than an hour's work.

Metropolitan Park officers rescued him and a physician revived the unconscious lad.

Several small boys went into the water in the Charles river basin at Cambridge yesterday, and during the afternoon one of their number, James Smith, 15, of 178 Spring street, East Cambridge, was seized with cramps.

At Riverside, Officer Reed rescued a young woman and for more than three hours worked over her before she was revived. The young woman had been thrown into the water when a canoe in which she was paddling capsized. She was later sent to her home.

FUNERALS
GEORGEKAKOULIOS—The funeral of Nicholas Georgekakoulis, who lost his life by drowning Saturday afternoon, took place yesterday afternoon, from the chapel of Undertaker Joseph Albert. Services were held at the Greek Orthodox church, the Rev. Demetrius officiating. Burial was in the Edison cemetery in charge of Undertaker Albert.

THOMAS—The funeral of Mrs. Emma A. Thomas took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her residence, 12 Marlborough street. The services were conducted by Rev. Ransom A. Greene, D. D., of East Somerville, and Rev. Clarence R. Skinner, pastor of the Grace Universalist church. Appropriate selections were sung by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Burns.

The bearers were four brothers of the deceased, George, Guilford, William and Albert Lewis. Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Mr. John W. Stett, under the direction of Undertaker George W. Healey.

THEY MAY TIE US
But they can't beat our soda for quality. Our coffee is the talk of the town. College lads with fresh crushed fruit for 5c. Our Banana Split makes an ideal lunch. Howard, the druggist, 197 Central street.

Present at a Game
Frank J. McNamara pleaded guilty to being present at a game and a fine of $4 was imposed. McNamara and a number of other young men were shooting craps in a yard off Dummer street yesterday when Inspector Walsh saw the game and gave chase. The majority of the young men ran away but McNamara walked away leisurely and was arrested.

Case Continued
The liquor squad visited Osmond L. Field's drug store in Tilden street yesterday and succeeded in seizing a quantity of liquor. Mr. Field appeared in court this morning to a complaint charging him with the illegal sale of liquor, but at the request of his counsel the case was continued until next Monday.

Conquering of Air Has Cost Eighty-one Lives In the Past Four Years

By GEORGE WAUGH ARNOLD.

THE struggles of man to achieve power over the air has already cost eighty-one valuable lives, and the list of victims of minor injuries from crashes to broken bones is numbered way up in the hundreds.

But the work started by young Balloons with his wicks of wax still goes on, and the fatalities are taken by the plunge to death on May 17 at Los Angeles, Cal., of A. V. Hartle, a relative of Governor Harrison of Ohio, who was in his second day's apprenticeship as an aviator. He had a new biplane and started out so well that half the workmen around the hangars at the Dominguez aviation field stopped to look at him.

Suddenly some of the experts noticed that one of the ailerons, or smaller uninjured, bobbing along nicely on the waves and smoking a cigarette.

Latham's friends and relatives urged him to give up air traveling after this episode, and he half promised he would, but the next heard of him was halfway across the world at Los Angeles, where he was duck hunting in his monoplane and bringing in such bags that the other sportsmen were in despair.

Among odd and severe but not fatal next gust of wind blew part of the big machine to the ground; but, strange to say, no part of its intricate mechanism was badly damaged, and it soared aloft about its business again in a few days.

The tallest of all the great aviators is Thomas Sopwith, six feet three inches, who is credited with only one accident. In this he smashed his machine, but he escaped with a large black eye, while a passenger he had George's feet just in time for luncheon.

Claude Grahame-White, who took away from America nearly $100,000 in money and medals, had his only bad fall after he returned to England in December, 1910. He was practicing at Dover for the start for the Baron de Forest "cross channel" $20,000 prize when, for some reason he has never been able to explain, his machine turned turtle seventy feet in the air and so many accidents that he probably can't count them, and he has a total of sixteen broken bones, all beautifully healed, however. His little specialty is a preference for flying in bad weather.

Corsica, have given up all hope of ever recovering his body.

Few would care to undergo the experience of Frey, the German competitor in the recent Paris, Rome, Turin race, who lay with both legs and one arm broken in the wreck of his machine in a ravine in the mountains near Rome for three hours in a driving rain. But he will recover.

A remarkable aviation accident is re-

1.—Lebaudy machine draping treetop. 2.—Hubert Latham's rescue in English channel by torpedo boat. 3.—Grahame-White's machine turned turtle. 4.—This fall meant only a black eye to Sopwith. 5.—One of Hamilton's wrecked machines. 6.—Lebaudy crew almost through repairs.

other air men, facing the same fate, with the shrug of the shoulder that is the mark of the man who cares till he does.

The greatest of the later tragedies occurred on June 18 at Vincennes, on the outskirts of Paris. Here the death victims numbered three—Captain Princeteau, M. le Marlin and M. Lendron. They started in the race over a 560 mile course, across France, Belgium, Holland and England, which, of course, included two crossings of the channel. The aviation field was jammed with at least 1,000,000 persons, of whom 200 were seriously injured in the attempts of police and soldiery to preserve safety lines. Princeteau and Lendron were burned to death and Le Marlin's head was crushed.

Fell at Sister's Feet.

One of the saddest of the preceding accidents, if there can be such a thing as a standard of sadness, was the wings, was broken and began shouting for him to come down, but the young man—he was only twenty-six years of age—apparently thought the shouts were of encouragement, and he rose to a height of fifty feet and attempted a figure 8.

The airship whirled like a drunken man and pitched Hartle from his seat. He landed on his head and shoulders not fifty feet from where his sister was watching him and was picked up dead. Miss Hartle fainted, and several physicians worked over her for half an hour before she recovered consciousness.

But, as in every other sport of danger, all accidents are not fatal, and, in fact, some of them come close to the thin line that divides comedy from tragedy. For instance, when Hubert Latham fell with his wrecked machine into the English channel and one of the following torpedo boats rushed up, expecting to find him either dead or badly mangled, it found him absolutely along got free without a scratch, and yet they fell from a height of fifty feet after the machine had overturned. Sopwith is the young man who flew to Windsor castle in the spring of 1910 and alighted on the lawn at King came crashing down on top of him. He was knocked senseless, but soon recovered and was found to have received nothing more serious than a few cuts about the face.

"Dare Devil" Hamilton has been in

The deaths of Hoxsey and Molsant on the same day at Los Angeles and New Orleans are still fresh in every mind, and the friends of the famous Lieutenant Bayou of France, who was last seen at Nice starting on a trip to ported from Bombay. Lieutenant Daves started from the Bombay oval in a Hummer monoplane, intending to fly to Malabar point, about four miles away. The Bombay-Baroda railway line skirts the oval, and between the railway and the oval are some unusually high telegraph wires.

Lieutenant Daves rose quite successfully from the oval and dipped to turn seaward, when he saw that he would not clear the telegraph wires. He therefore descended quite slowly on to the railway line near Church Gate station.

At that moment a goods train approached and crashed into the monoplane, smashing it to pieces. The air man was unable to jump clear before the collision took place and was flung on to some grass. His face was cut by one of the wires of the machine. The engine of the monoplane was not damaged.

No aviator of any experience minimizes the terrible risks he takes, but, as air men point out, in the development of any new vehicle of transportation facilities have been inevitable, and so long as vehicles attempt to make rapid movement these will continue to be inevitable. Mr. Clifford Harman cites the development of the steam and electric railroads. "There are sections of transcontinental systems," he says, "where every tie stands for the sacrifice of a human life."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR FOLK TO HOLD WHOLE WEEK'S SILVER ANNIVERSARY AT ATLANTIC CITY

NOW that the Taft silver wedding is over the Christian Endeavor people of the United States are going to have a twenty-fifth celebration of their own. They will hold it on the million dollar pier at Atlantic City, N. J., from July 6 to 12, inclusive, and President Taft will be there to make an address on silver, not as a political campaigning point, but as a reminder of all that is beautiful in long and loving association.

On the opening day the Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, founder of the great movement, will deliver the president's message and Treasurer Lathrop and Secretary Shaw their reports of the workings of the monster organization for the preceding twelve months.

Among the other notable men and women on the platform, most of whom will speak during the convention, will be Hon. Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives; former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks, Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, Dr. Charles M. Sheldon of Kansas, Principal Hook-during five of the seven mornings of convention week, and there are other unique features which promise to make this the greatest gathering this world-wide movement has ever held.

Young's pier has been leased by the Christian Endeavorers for the entire week, and only registered delegates and convention visitors will be allowed on the pier while the convention is in session.

Special railroad rates have been granted from nearly all points throughout the country for the convention, and unusually low hotel rates are also offered.

The convention program is so arranged that the hours from 10 in the morning until 2:30 in the afternoon are left free of meetings each day, so that the delegates may enjoy to the full the bathing and other outdoor recreations at Atlantic City.

On Sunday morning special sermons will be delivered in the Atlantic City churches by the Rev. William J. Williamson, D. D., pastor Third Baptist church, St. Louis; Rev. E. J. Horsfield, vicar St. Silas' church, Bristol, England; Rev. August Folsom, pastor Temple Lutheran church, Philadelphia; Rev. David Ross, Baptist pastor, Darlington, England; Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins, rector Holy Trinity, Philadelphia; Rev. Herbert Anderson, English Baptist missionary, Calcutta, India; Rev. Robert E. Profflow, pastor Friends' church, Brooklyn; Rev. W. D. Ferry, Ph. D., pastor Brethren church, Philadelphia; Rev. W. P. Johnson, D. D., pastor First African Baptist church, Richmond, Va.; Rev. Julian C. Caldwell, D. D., general secretary Allan Christian Endeavor League, Nashville, Tenn.; Bishop Alexander Walters, A. M. D. Zion, New York; Rev. J. S. Leonard, president Methodist Protestant Christian Endeavor union, Pittsburgh.

Delegates are advised that no special credentials are necessary. All members of Christian Endeavor societies can register as delegates, and friends accompanying them who are not members can register as visitors at the registration headquarters at the Million Dollar pier.

A registration fee of $1 will be charged, which entitles the delegate or visitor to the convention badge, program, etc. The badge entitles the holder to admission to the pier and to all meetings during the convention. The registration fee also entitles the delegates to the special hotel rates and other courtesies.

For those who do not wish to register for the whole convention a daily admission ticket to the pier and auditorium will be furnished at a cost of 50 cents each person.

No one can be admitted to the pier or to the auditorium without a badge or ticket.

No delegate will be assigned to a hotel or boarding house where liquor is sold. Temperance hotels only is the rule.

ALL NATIONS INTERESTED IN THE NEWEST DICKER BETWEEN UNCLE SAM AND THE MIKADO

ALL nations are watching eagerly for the first news of our new treaty with Japan, on which the statesmen of both countries have been working their hardest since last July, when it became evident that neither interested party was going to avail itself of the privilege of renouncing the treaty of 1894.

The new convention is to be a general treaty of peace, amity and commerce. According to the terms of the existing treaty, that may be renounced by either party after July 17, 1911, but only after a year's notice of such purpose. Neither nation has given such notice, although either might have done so at any time since July 17 last. It is not deemed probable that either party will now give notice of any purpose to renounce the existing treaty, as it is of course the problem which presents the gravest difficulty is that concerning the admission of Japanese laborers. The existing treaty, while insuring to each of the contracting parties absolute freedom to trade in the territory of the other and unrestricted admission of each to the ports of the other, specifically provides that nothing which it contains shall be construed in any way to "affect the laws, ordinances and regulations with regard to trade, the immigration of laborers, police and public security which are in force or which may hereafter be enacted in either of the two countries." This provision has always been held by the diplomatic authorities of this country to contain abundant warrant for the specific exclusion of Japanese laborers.

On the other hand, it has been apprehended that such specific legislation would seriously hurt the pride of the Japanese, and as will be recalled, the apparent necessity of such legislative exclusion has been at least partly obviated by the Japanese authorities, who themselves took such steps as were necessary to prevent their laborers from entering the United States.

The existing treaty contains twenty articles and a protocol, both signed by Walter Q. Gresham for the United States and by Shunichiro Kurino for Japan.

It will be seen that the task which confronts the secretary of state and his associates is by no means an easy one.

Furthermore, unless reciprocal tariff concessions are made by the two countries a number of important articles of export from the United States which now enjoy low rates will have to pay considerably increased rates under the statutory tariff.

Among these articles are rails, the duty on which will be raised from 5 per cent ad valorem to about 20 per cent; locomotives and tenders, which will be subjected to a similar increase; pipes and tubes of cast and wrought iron, from 10 per cent ad valorem to specific rates ranging from 15 to 20 per cent ad valorem; steel leather, from 15 to 20 per cent ad valorem; paraffin wax, from 5 to 20 per cent ad valorem; iron proposed that the new convention shall replace that now in force whenever it shall have been ratified and the ratifications exchanged.

Some of the questions involved are of more than ordinary delicacy, especially the problem of Japanese exclusion, for which reason it has seemed wise to the secretary of state to undertake the formulation of the new convention at a time when the negotiators can work without undue pressure for the settlement of all difficult problems in accordance with the best interests and as nearly as possible in accordance with the wishes of both nations. Secretary Knox is sparing no pains in his efforts to perfect a convention which shall not only leave no point uncovered, but which shall prove satisfactory to all concerned.

Emperor and president now waging friendly battle of brains.

nafts, from a specific duty amounting to about 10 per cent to one estimated at 20 per cent; printing paper, from a specific duty of about 10 per cent to one of 15.2 per cent; insulated electric wire, from 5 per cent ad valorem to about 34 per cent, and railway passenger cars, from 5 per cent to 20 per cent ad valorem.

Although the treaty between Japan and the United States does not expire until July, 1912, it contains no conventional tariff arrangements, whereas those between Japan and other countries do, and for this reason the United States on July 17, 1911, when the treaty other than its own expires, must pay the new duties in so far as they are enforced upon imports into Japan from the other countries.

MAJOR-GENERAL WOOD

Says Fortifications on Our Seaboard are Invincible

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The fortification of mobile forces with the great cannons guarding the city of New York is emphasized by the general, and other important centers of population. Large bodies of troops would be needed on the seaboard to prevent any enemy landing near the coast. Major General Wood, chief of the points of the fort defenses, believes the great guns of the fortifications could destroy any fleet that might be sent against them. His views have been submitted to the house committee on expenditures in the war department. The necessity for co-operation of the army and navy is emphasized by the general.

WANTS A DIVORCE

Chinaman Says Wife Will Not Live With Him

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 3.—The first application for divorce between two Chinese has been filed by an attorney representing Lou Hootong today against his wife, Tong Hoo. The plaintiff is a wealthy laundryman.

When Tong came to this city 20 years ago he was in love with a fair Oriental maid and began saving money until he had accumulated money enough to wed her. They were married in 1897. They lived together but seven days then she disappeared. Tong began to search for his missing bride, and after seven months found her in Shenandoah, Pa. He induced her to return to luxuriously furnished quarters in this city, and she remained with him just seven days when she again fled.

Again he sought her out, followed her to Pottsville, Pa., where it was found she was married to a white man. He had her arrested on a bigamy charge, then offered to withdraw the charge and take her to his home, but she declined, insisting on being sentenced. Her prison term expires on July 5, when the separation papers will be served on her.

MISSING YOUTH

HAS RETURNED TO HIS HOME IN NASHUA

NASHUA, N. H., July 3.—Luke Woodbury, son of Edgar C. Woodbury of 6 Broad street, who disappeared suddenly two years ago, is home on a visit. He was only 16 when he left Nashua and the fact that he was a senior in the high school and belonged to a well-known family created great interest at the time.

Young Woodbury says he is working in a machine shop near Meriden, Conn., where he has been since leaving Nashua.

QUEEN COLUMBIA

I am Columbia the Fair,
But brave and strong,
And ever for the Right I dare
Against the Wrong.

With tumult and with shouting loud
Beyond the sea
They crown their kings amid the crowd
In jubilee.

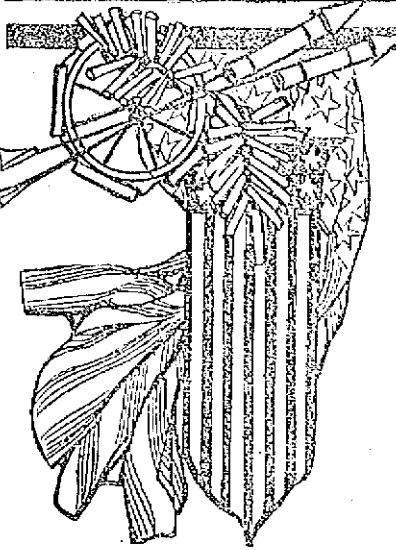

But in my land of mead and maize,
Of oak and elm,
A Queen am I, uncrowned, who sways
A throneless realm.

I am not garbed in ancient gear,
Yet, clothed with might,
I face the future, year on year
Of dawning light.

Let Europe loud with trumpet blare
Her kings acclaim.

I am Columbia the Fair,
The queenliest dame!

BURNED TO DEATH A ROUGH EXPERIENCE

Man Lost His Life in Fire in Walpole

WALPOLE, July 3.—Timothy O'Leary was burned to death at his home on Norton avenue about 1.30 yesterday morning. He had left his bedroom with a lighted kerosene lamp and went to the pantry to get a drink of water. The lamp exploded and killed the small pantry with flame. Mr. O'Leary was covered with the blazing oil and fell, his body lying against the pantry door. Mrs. O'Leary was awakened by the smell of smoke and went to the pantry but could not open the door.

Meanwhile Chief of Police Howard Patton had seen the flames from his home on School street and hastened to the O'Leary house, where he found Mrs. O'Leary vainly trying to force her way in the pantry. He broke in the door with an axe and pulled the body out of the burning pantry.

Chief Patton's right hand was badly burned and also some of his clothing caught fire. The fire department extinguished the flames. The fire was badly damaged but the fire was kept from the main part of the dwelling.

Mr. O'Leary's body was removed to Walsh's undertaking rooms, where it was reviewed by Medical Examiner William O. Faxon.

Mr. O'Leary was the wit of the community and always took a prominent part in the town meetings. He was 32 years old, the son of John O'Leary of Canton, and had lived in that town until five years ago.

He is survived by a wife four daughters, Juliette, Marguerite, Elizabeth and Helen of Walpole; his father, five brothers, James, Michael, a resident of California; and three sisters, Mrs. Katherine Roach, Mrs. Nellie Dunn and Mrs. Mary Marks, all of Canton.

Sailors Dragged 10 Miles in a Fog

BOSTON, July 3.—Capt. Jerry Shea sailed the big fishing schooner Regina to T wharf yesterday after a short trip to the south channel grounds.

Two of his men, Garrett Fitzgerald and Jerry Curigan, came near not being aboard for the return trip, according to the story they told yesterday. Last Thursday Fitzgerald and Curigan set off to haul their trawls. It was very thick weather. They were making out to the east when they became aware that their dory was being drawn through the water at a great rate. Some invisible force was swishing their craft through the water faster than they could row.

Shortly after the fog lifted slightly and the men made out the outlines of a steamer a few feet to port of them. They shouted and wildly made themselves heard to those aboard the steamer. It was then found that they had got inside the nets of the steam trawler Spray and had been dragged along some 10 miles. The skipper of the Spray gave them their bearings. According to Fitzgerald they asked the captain of the steamer to take them back to the Regina, or at least to take them back to where the nets had picked them up, and be refused. The men say they were left in the thick fog to get back to the Regina as best they could.

It was some hours after when they got aboard the schooner, their hands swollen and bleeding from the 10 mile row.

Edwin F. Mason, dispensary clerk at the city hall, says he believes that the milk station and the district nurses are doing a splendid work in Lowell. He says that the number of babies treated at the dispensary within the last year or so was not nearly as great as in the older days. He believes that the milk station and the nurses have taught a great many mothers how to care for their babies and that a great many mothers have been helped by hints and suggestions received from them.

down into history. Some of the enthusiastic devotees of Major Fiske wanted the name changed to "Fiske Hill" but as there is a town in New York that sounds like it Joe decided to leave the name unchanged rather than the chance of paganism, whatever that is.

At 12 o'clock tonight Major Fiske will introduce Supr. Redmond Welch to him the main attraction at Bunker Hill. A salute will be fired, fireworks exploded, and the band will play and everybody will join in the general patriotic outburst.

The Ayer City Show
With due respect to all the other features in Lowell, Mr. Peter A. Gill, owner of Ayer City's prominent citizens, will have the honor at midnight of lighting off the grandest fireworks ever built in Lowell. Peter and an army of the youth of Ayer City have been working a week on their pile, a picture of which appears in today's Sun, and with the aid of a derelict made by themselves they have built a symmetrical pile 40 feet high. The walls of railroad sleepers carefully laid with regard to size and weight and slightly tapering at the top so as to avoid the danger of top-heaviness. Within the walls, wood and other inflammable material have been packed in solid. P. J. Riley, the well known junk dealer, gave the boys several loads of wood from his recent fire, while James B. Carey's comb factory contributed a barrel of kerosene which will top the pile. When there are two barrels of tar and a barrel of kerosene to help out. The boys have rigged a pulley arrangement from the top to the bottom and at the top is a load of excelsior, which will ignite readily. At the midnight hour Mr. Gill will fix a lighted ball of kerosene grease and cotton to the top and pull it to the top of the pile, igniting the oil soaked sides as it passes up and catching the excelsior and rekindled at the top, thus lighting all parts of the immense pile simultaneously.

At Columbus Park
The people of the immaculate conception parish and the O. M. I. Cadets will have a celebration of their own during the evening there will be a Midway at Columbus park and an entertainment. At midnight a huge bonfire will be lighted in Starblock street in front of the Sullivan residence.

At Court Street
At Court street four boys, John McNamara, Edmund Murphy, Richard Ready and Francis Ready have built a pile 53 feet high and will set it going at midnight.

Fair Grounds Bonfire
Aldermen James Flanagan will do the honors at the memorial bonfire at the Fair Grounds which is about 60 feet high and a corker. This pile has been under construction for some time and vies with the Ayer City pile in size and importance. There is plenty of room for a big crowd and it will probably be occupied.

West Centralville
The people of West Centralville will also have a celebration without expense to the city. The program for Tuesday night is as follows: Band concert by the Municipal band from 8:45 until 7:45. The fireworks will begin at 8 o'clock on land of the Merrimack Mfg. Co. opposite St. Louis' church. Permission from the Merrimack Mfg. Co. has been obtained, and the place is about the best, being easily accessible from all parts of that section.

French Orphanage Fire
The midway without which Lowell is charged for the band concert at the French orphanage is denied by Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., superior of the Oblates of St. Joseph's parish. Fr. Watelle states that the grounds will be open to the public without charge, and an outcrafter will be made to make things pleasant for all who attend.

At North Common
The North common will have its share of the celebration with a ball game in the morning, a marathon in the afternoon and a band concert. The Border Veterans' French will hold an "open house" at their quarters nearby.

At the South Common
The midway without which Lowell would seem lost on July 4th, starts up this evening and will run continuously tomorrow night at midnight. There are a host of attractions on the common. A band concert and fireworks display will be given in the evening.

Rev. Fr. Watelle's Statement
Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., pastor of St. Joseph's parish, emphatically denied the statement to the effect that admission fees would be charged at the band concert on the grounds of the French American orphanage tomorrow evening.

Relative to the matter Rev. Fr. Watelle today said:
"We are now holding a fête champêtre" or lawn party at the orphanage for the benefit of the institution. The affair was opened yesterday and will be continued today and tomorrow, the admission fee being the minimum sum of 5 cents. Some time ago we asked the mayor for a band concert on July 4, for the reason that we expect at least 10,000 people on the grounds on that night, and we think that this will be a large audience as will attend any of the municipal concerts. As far as charging an admission during the concert, this is a false assertion, for it was never mentioned and we are intelligent enough to know that people cannot be requested to pay an admission fee to listen to a municipal band concert. So, therefore, let it be understood that during the concert tomorrow evening, the grounds of the orphanage will be open to all."

FIREWORKS EXHIBIT
ALL READY FOR DISPLAY IN WEST CENTRALVILLE
All is now in readiness for the fireworks celebration to be held tomorrow in West Centralville on that strip of land owned by the Merrimack Mfg. Co. next to the fire station and opposite St. Louis' church.

The event will be held at 8 o'clock, but previous to that time, that is before share of the celebration with a ball game in the morning, a marathon in the afternoon and a band concert. The Border Veterans' French will hold an "open house" at their quarters nearby.

Garde Frontenac
MEMBERS WILL GO TO WILLIMANTIC TOMORROW
The members of Garde Frontenac will leave tomorrow morning on the 6:25 o'clock train for Willimantic, Ct., where they will attend the annual field day of the French American Volunteer Brigade.

The affair is to be one of the largest ever held in that city for the event will be a double one, as the observance of the Glorious Fourth will be held on a high scale. The entire brigade will take part in the parade and in the afternoon prize drills will be held between the various guards of the organization and suitable prizes will be awarded the winners. The members of Garde Frontenac will return home tomorrow evening.

WENT TO REVERE
ANNUAL EXCURSION OF CERCE DYVOVILLE HELD TODAY
The annual excursion of Cerce Dyvoille was held today at Revere beach. One jambo electric car left the square at 8 o'clock this morning and the trip was a most pleasant one. The jovious crowd stung and having a jolly time all the way. The party will leave the beach for the return trip at 8 o'clock tonight.

There was another excursion to Revere today, when about 100 employees of the Lawrence factory boarded a special car at Merrimack square for that beach. The party was under the direction of Mr. Eugene Martin and the excursion was a most successful one.

A STRENUOUS MONTH
The ancient frog pond on Boston common resembled a great wash bowl. Hundreds who had tried to find relief by sleeping on the grassy shores and on the long greenward flanking the different malls on the common performed their morning ablutions in the pond.

The official temperature climbed to 97 at noon. Yesterday it was 91 at that hour. Thermometers on the streets recorded 100 degrees today. This afternoon the weatherman announced that there might be a thunderstorm or two over New England but he hesitated to state that these showers would delay the heat.

IT'S HOTTER TODAY
A JUMP OF 15 DEGREES IN NEW YORK CITY
NEW YORK, July 3.—The thermometer at 5 o'clock this morning registered 15 degrees higher than at the same hour yesterday which was good enough indication that Monday would record Sunday for the high temperature record. Yesterday with a maximum of 94 degrees was the hottest day here in 12 years. But it showed an 8 o'clock temperature of only 72 compared with 87 at 8 o'clock this morning.

The heat has caused 10 deaths and over 50 prostrations. The rush of bathers to rivers and ocean beaches, due to the excessive warmth, was indirectly responsible for nine deaths in this neighborhood from drowning.

HOTTER TOMORROW
BOSTON, July 3.—All heat records in the 40 years of the Boston weather bureau were expected to be smashed by 2 o'clock this afternoon. By 1 o'clock the mercury in the weather bureau had reached 100 degrees. It was the hottest July day New England had ever experienced. The weather man predicted a scorching for the fourth.

Up to an early hour this afternoon 15 people had fainted from the heat on the streets and in the workshops of Boston. Almost every city and town outside had its own prostrations.

NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

The Hot Wave Still Holds Its Grip in New England

BOSTON, July 3.—"The hot wave has not released its grip on New England. There is absolutely no relief in sight. It will be one of the hottest July fourths on record." Big beads of sweat trickled down the brow of the weather prophet as he swung about in his chair in his fair on the top floor of the federal building today and thus pronounced on the heat situation in New England. At 9 a. m. the official temperature was 85, compared with 75 at the same hour yesterday. Outside on the streets the mercury was flirting with the 100 mark and many persons were prostrated. Unable to sleep and crazed by the heat, Mrs. Mary McNally leaped from the second story window at the Home for Intemperate Women in Roxbury early today. She was found unconscious on the sidewalk and was taken to the city hospital. She sustained a fracture of the right ankle.

The hospitals all over Boston were ready for a busy day. Many who were overcome were quickly revived and were not taken to the hospitals. In the 24 hours up to 10 a. m. four deaths and a half dozen prostrations were reported in the city of Boston alone.

A young girl employed in an Essex street workshop was overcome by the heat this forenoon. The heat and excitement prostrated two others so that when the Grace hospital ambulance arrived it had three heat victims to carry away.

By noon time police headquarters had reported five men stricken by the excessive heat that radiated from the pavements.

The ancient frog pond on Boston common resembled a great wash bowl. Hundreds who had tried to find relief by sleeping on the grassy shores and on the long greenward flanking the different malls on the common performed their morning ablutions in the pond.

RECORDS MAY BE BROKEN
WASHINGTON, July 3.—With skies practically cloudless the country over today, indicates that hot weather records might be broken in many sections. The day started with temperatures ranging from 72 to 85 degrees, higher than yesterday morning in the larger cities. New York "topping" the list with a rise of from 72 to 88 degrees. In Chicago it was 84, as compared with 82 yesterday morning, and in Washington the rise was from 75 to 84. The government forecaster held out no hope of relief within the next 36 hours. The hot wave extends over the middle Mississippi and eastward over the Ohio valley, the south portion of the Great Lakes region, the Middle Atlantic and the New England states. Reasonable temperatures prevailed in the southern and plains states, the Rocky Mountain regions and the Pacific slope. Tonight and tomorrow will be fair in the Middle Atlantic and New England states, the Ohio valley and lake region, according to the forecaster.

Scattered showers are probable only in the South Atlantic and Gulf states. No change in the temperature is expected east of the Mississippi river.

HOTTEST OF YEAR
NEW YORK, July 3.—At 11 o'clock this morning the official thermometer on the roof of the Whitehall building, 325 feet above the street and fronting the sea breezes, registered 97 degrees, with every indication that it would continue climbing. This is the hottest day of the year and within two degrees of the hottest July 3 recorded since the weather bureau was established.

"We shall equal that mark or exceed it before the day is over," said the forecaster. It was 85 at seven o'clock, 89 at nine o'clock and 94 at ten o'clock.

One death was reported early this morning and prostrations increased hourly as the day wore on. In Brooklyn Eugene Cartmell, crazed by the heat, ran amuck with an open knife and after attempting to stab two policemen and several citizens was shot dead by an officer.

VESSEL WRECKED
It is Reported 56 Lives Were Lost
CHRISTIANIA, July 3.—Two ships were discharged today from Hammerfest to search for possible survivors of the Norwegian steamer Vellings, which went down off the coast of Iceland with fifty-six on board.

It is believed that all were lost. First news of the disaster was brought from Reischaven, but details were lacking.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

SIEGE OF GETTYSBURG

JULY 3.—Forty-eight years ago today, July 3, 1863, was terminated the battle of Gettysburg. For three days the storm of shot and shell had raged about the little Pennsylvania town, but on the eve of the last day the tide had been cast and the Federal army under Meade were victors. This battle is recognized as the turning point of the Civil war, and also as the fiercest battle of modern times. When Lee and his powerful army entered Pennsylvania there was consternation in the north. Meade had just recently taken command of the army of the Potomac. The opposing forces met for the first time July 1. The first day favored the confederates. The second day was given to an artillery duel which produced an incessant thunder of sound, but was without result as both sides bravely held their respective positions. On the third day General Lee decided to charge Cemetery Hill and was repulsed with such frightful loss that Meade decided on a counter charge. This the confederates could not stand and the retreat of Lee across the Potomac followed. The extent of this bloody conflict is best told by the figures. During the three days' battle the federal army lost 30,722 killed, 11,407 wounded and 5,434 captured or missing; the confederate army, according to official reports, had 23,000 killed, 12,700 wounded and 15,100 captured or missing.

FOR REV. FR. RONAN

Solemn Requiem at St Peter's Tomorrow

At St. Peter's church tomorrow morning at 8.45 o'clock, a solemn high mass of requiem will be sung for the repose of the soul of the late Rev. Michael Ronan, pastor of the church, it being the second anniversary of his death. The members of the Holy Name society will attend in a body, assembling at the Fair hall at 8.30 o'clock. Special music will be rendered by the choir.

Holy Name Communion

In accordance with a time honored custom, the Holy Name society of St. Peter's will receive holy communion next Sunday at the 8 o'clock mass. This annual arrangement relative to breakfast after mass will prevail. At high mass yesterday Rev. John P. Burns, referred to the communion day and urged the members to attend in large numbers. He emphasized the necessity of the men participating in the communion day in the summer as well as in the cold weather, and felt that all would feel better for having taken part therein.

FELL FROM WINDOW

Little Child Was Probably Fatally Injured

BOSTON, July 3.—The fact that little Beatrice McNeil, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McNeil of 1 Ipswich place, East Boston, struck a signboard undoubtedly saved the child from instant death early yesterday morning when she fell out of a window of her home.

The little girl managed to reach the open window without the knowledge of her mother and climbing on a chair she attempted to look out but lost her balance and fell. The distance to the sidewalk below was about 25 feet, but about half-way down was the signboard which served to break the fall.

Her mother, Mrs. Bridget McNeil, saw the child as she fell and rushed downstairs expecting to find the girl dead on the sidewalk but she was very much alive at the moment, but later went into a semiconscious condition.

She was taken to the East Boston relief station, where it was found that her body was badly confused and it is feared she is internally injured. Her name was placed on the dangerous list.

THE EXCESSIVE HEAT

Cause of Three Deaths in Boston

BOSTON, July 3.—Three deaths and a number of prostrations were caused in and about Boston by the excessive heat yesterday.

Temporarily insane from the heat, Thomas Owens, 25 years old, of 111 West Third street, jumped from the second story window of his home to the sidewalk. His skull was fractured and he died later at the City hospital.

Samuel Church of Beverly, 76 years old, died of apoplexy superinduced by the heat in Marblehead last evening. Mr. Moore was walking along Gregory street with two of his grandchildren when one youngster's hat blew off. The old gentleman ran after the hat, recovered it, placed it on the child's head and then sat down on nearly level ground and died.

Henry C. Fay, one of the oldest citizens of Lexington, dropped dead on the piazza of a neighbor's house yesterday afternoon from heart disease superinduced by the heat. He was 82 years old and lived with a daughter at 77 Bedford street, Lexington.

HEIRESS INJURED

IN AN AUTO CRASH AT CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, July 3.—Doctors waiting on Miss Helena Stallo said she was very badly injured and would have to be in bed for the next six weeks. Miss Stallo is the daughter of Edmund K. Stallo, the New York lawyer, and was one of the grand-daughters of the late Alexander McDonald, who died a year ago, leaving his two granddaughters the bulk of his fortune of $15,000,000. She was hurt in an automobile crash on the way from Cincinnati to the Cincinnati Country club in Chester Park.

The car was driven by its owner, Francis L. Mitchell, aged 15. They ran into another machine, and Miss Stallo was thrown out against a heavy iron water pipe, while Mitchell was thrown on top of the pipe and knocked unconscious.

Mitchell takes all the blame for the accident. If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

EXCUSE ME!

STATE INFIRMARY

realizes that he or she is insane but these cases are very rare. It is not an uncommon thing to have one of the patients tell a doctor or an attendant that some other person in the ward had gone "daffy." As a rule, however, they are kindly disposed toward each other and they get along very well together. But there are some awful sad happenings in this home of impaired minds. There's the case of the man who takes his wife there and goes to visit her once a week. Her insanity seems to have but emphasized her great love for him and when the time arrives when he must go the scene is too sad to relate. Then comes the time when her mind clears and she is let out on what is known as a "trial visit."

Her husband comes for her and finds her a sensible woman again. "I will be all right now for a little while, dear, and we will go home together." That is what she says to him and both of them know that it is but a little while. When the season of her sanity has expired her husband takes her back again to the institution and the same horrible story is repeated.

A young man whose mother has been at the institution off and on for years has displayed such loyalty, love and devotion that even the more hardened of the inmates have noticed it and have been heard to make favorable comment. The young man in question has quite a long way to go but he never fails to visit his mother at least once a week and when she is allowed on a trial visit he is as happy as can be. Sometimes she will remain at home for four to six months. Then he comes back and she is as sane as ever. Some one knows her better than does the doctor or the attendants, and he can tell when her mind is about to take leave of absence. When he takes her back to the hospital where she remains until the mind gets back to its throne again. This has been going on for years.

Wild Man of Borneo

The most remarkable inmate at the institution is a fellow who has been there for several years and for many years was exhibited by that great showman, P. T. Barnum, as the wild man of Borneo. But truth to tell this man is not from Borneo but from New Bedford. He is about 45 years old and his head is smaller than the head of a two-year-old child. When he finished his side show exhibit he was sent to Tewksbury because his mind was weak. He cannot talk but he can understand what is said to him and he is doing anything he is asked to do. He eats well, is good natured and seems to enjoy life at the institution. He has managed to make it understood that he likes the institution better than he liked the circus.

The Pasture Treatment

Quite a number of persons, men, women and children, have taken the Pasture treatment within the last few months. Lowell supplied a good many patients especially at the time when the cattle bureau suggested that there was to be an epidemic here. Lowell has not had a mad dog scare, but for several weeks. Dr. John H. Nichols, superintendent and resident physician at the state infirmary, few weeks ago and by so doing was fortunate not to have been bitten as the strange dog followed him into his office. It seems that the dog found his way into the institution and to the trustees' room where he discovered him. Dr. Nichols passed good to the room on the way to his office and the dog followed him. He thought it was his own dog and turned to pat him when he found his mistake. The dog did not attempt to attack him, but Dr. Nichols knew from his appearance that he was not a domestic animal. He managed to drive him out and no sooner had the undesirable visitor landed outside the institution than he exploded the doctor's dog on the steps of the doctor's residence and he attacked him viciously. Then he started for the center of the town and attacked two other dogs on the way. Dr. Nichols kept tabs on the mad one and caused him to be shot. He sent the head to Boston and it was reported back that the dog had a well developed case of rabies. The next thing to do was to kill the three dogs that were bitten, but considerable reluctance on the part of the owners. The doctor did not like to part with his dog, but he knew there was no alternative but to kill him. It is possible, strange, however, that the dog suffering from the rabies would seek the only institution in this section of the country where the Pasteur treatment is given. It would seem better to get the treatment but he came too late.

Protection Against Fire

The state infirmary is pretty well equipped for fire fighting. There is a fire alarm in the main house and yard. There's a large tank on the hill above the institution and two large reservoirs. There is a pumping station where water for domestic purposes is pumped and in every building there is a standpipe with hose connected and the laborers are drilled occasionally in all this a system of fire extinguishers. There has not been a fire of any consequence at the institution for several years. The last big fire there destroyed the laundry.

Employment For All

A man who is fit to work is made to work at the state infirmary. A great many homes are harbored during the winter months but they "take a snuff" in the dear old springtime. Besides the work in the field there are many things to be done under cover and opportunities are open to the ambitious ones to learn a trade. About all of the furniture used at the institution is made there and the institution makes its own brooms, mats, harnesses, etc.

New Nurses' Hall

There are 300 people employed at the infirmary and among the many additions and improvements that are being made at the present time is a nurses' hall which will open in a week for two. They call it a hall, but it is in every sense of the word a dormitory. Nurses at the present time, or those of them who arrived after the old hall was full, have been sleeping in different buildings and mostly in attic rooms. The new hall will accommodate all of these nurses and they will be all together instead of being scattered about the different buildings. The demands upon the institution are growing year by year and it will not be long before other new buildings will be required.

Superintendent's Report

In his annual report for 1910 the superintendent, Dr. Nichols, says that the children's hospital was opened for patients in May. "This," says the report, has been one of the most notable improvements in our institution for many years; removing the children to a distant point beyond our main group of buildings has already proved to be a most gratifying change.

The extensions on the laundry, which were mentioned as commencing in the last report, have been completed and have been in use during the greater part of the year.

The new nurses' home, with a capacity of 40 rooms, has been erected and the work is now very near completion.

An additional wing, with a capacity for 50 patients, has been built on the main hospital for convalescents, and we expect to be able to occupy it some time in the near future.

The extension of the women's convalescent hospital, two wings, to increase the capacity of that building by 40 beds, is well under way.

Considerable work has been done in landscaping and beautifying the grounds of the institution and at the junction of Chandler and East streets.

The old pigery has been abandoned although no new structure has been built. Dr. Nichols provided: provisional housing has been arranged at a distant point beyond the filter beds.

An extension to the boiler house, 28 by 45 feet, has been erected, and three additional boilers, 200 horse-power each, have been installed; the foundation for the extension 35 feet square to our engine house has been built, for the accommodation of a new engine and generator.

Another of the old buildings, at one time used for a boys' ward, and recently relocated on Livingstone street, has been remodeled for a dwelling to be used for employees.

The cold-frames or hotbeds which have been until recently located near our women's building for the insane have been removed and permanently established on the southern bank of the roadway leading to the bridge to the upper floor of the barn.

I wish to suggest the following improvements, for which there seems to be especial need: Enlargement of the administration building; enlargement of the chapel; barracks separated from our main group of buildings; the building of a new ward for women for special cases; the purchase of real estate.

A debt of gratitude is due to the many friends who have contributed books, magazines and gifts for Christmas trees and on other occasions for the benefit of the inmates, and also to many other people who have kindly furnished entertainments during the year.

I wish to acknowledge my appreciation of the chaplains who have served the institution during the year: the Rev. Thomas G. Langdale, who has been with us three years and who has recently accepted the pastorate of the South Congregational church in Salem; the Rev. Mr. Elshoff, the Rev. Fr.

AT NORTH CHELMSFORD

Residents Protest Against Condition of Car Tracks

At the masses at St. John's church, North Chelmsford yesterday, Rev. Fr. Schofield took occasion to make a public statement relative to the dangerous condition of the car tracks in North Chelmsford from the city line up and the dirt nuisance as well as the people of the village to get together and take steps to remedy the complaint was made nearly a year ago and the superintendent promised to attend to the matter as an "early" date. Later on in the day as if to emphasize the truth of Fr. Schofield's statements a car carrying a large freight jumped the track just below St. John's church.

This matter of dangerous tracks is of interest to the hundreds of Lowell people using the North Chelmsford line. It will make a good subject for North Chelmsford's new board of trade to take up for a starter.

The directors of the Chelmsford board of trade held a business meeting and were entertained at the home of President Royal S. Ripley on Friday evening.

The board will again meet on Monday evening, July 10, in the lower town hall to compare results and to make arrangements for the holding of the first regular meeting of the board.

McQuay, the Rev. Fr. Cornell, the Rev. Fr. McQuay, the Rev. Fr. McQuay and other associates from the novitiate of the Oblate Fathers, who have been in constant relation with our people and have officiated at the Sunday and other services in the chapel.

of trade the following Thursday, July 13, at the same place. Col. Ripley was also instructed to confer with some prominent members of the Lowell board of trade and request him to give the board members an interesting talk on the benefits of such an organization at the next meeting.

After the business meeting the members were "royally" entertained.

All up for the big union picnic of St. John's and St. Catherine's parishes at Nahasset tomorrow.

In order to accommodate the large crowd expected arrangements have been made with the Lowell & Haverhill railway to provide a good service of cars in close proximity to the pond from North Chelmsford and other up-town places. There will be baseball games in the morning, children's entertainment, sports and promenade concert by the union school band in the afternoon, dancing in the evening.
